

STUDENTS' SOCIETY LOAN FUND APPROVED AT SEC MEETING

A motion providing for a Students' Society loan fund was passed last Wednesday at a meeting of the Students' Executive Council.

The fund, which is to provide financial aid to students who fulfil certain conditions laid down by the S.E.C., will be administered by the Scholarships Committee of the University.

The motion setting up the Loan fund is as follows:

Whereas the interest of the Students' Society of McGill University in the welfare of its members extends to the academic side, as well as to social and cultural activities; and

Whereas there are many members of the Society who are in need of financial assistance during the course of their university careers; and

Whereas there are some student loan funds available at present, but these are not sufficient to provide loans for all the students who require them; and

Whereas the Students' Executive Council is grateful to the kindly sponsors of the existing loan funds; and

Whereas the Students' Executive Council considers it desirable to encourage students of the University by helping them to finance their education;

Be it resolved that a student loan fund be set up by the Students' Society with an initial capital of $1,500 subject to the following terms and conditions:

1. that the fund be known as the Students' Society Loan Fund.
2. that the amount loaned to any one student be restricted to a maximum of $300 per academic year.
3. that interest be charged at the rate of 3% per annum commencing two full years after the date of the loan.
4. that interest received on loans be added to the capital sum of the fund.
5. that the fund be administered by McGill University.
6. that loans be made without restrictions as to race, nationality or creed.
7. that loans be granted in accordance with the following qualifications:
 - a. students must be in good academic standing.
 - b. the primary consideration is to be financial need.
 - c. a secondary consideration is to be the contribution made to Students' Society activities.

RED CROSS SHOW

A block of 50 seats has been reserved for McGill students who wish to attend the Tri-Service Salute to the Red Cross. The two and one-half hour-long show will begin at 8:30 pm tonight, at the Forum. Tickets may be obtained free of charge at the Tuckshop in the Union.

Zara Nelsova Soloist At Concert Tuesday

Zara Nelsova, renowned cellist, will be the soloist at the forthcoming Chamber Music Concert on Tuesday, February 28 at 8:30 pm at Redpath Hall. Alexander Brott, Musical Director of the McGill Chamber Music Society, will conduct.

Miss Nelsova will be heard in the Concerto for Cello and Ensemble by Karl Philip Emmanuel Bach, third son of J. S. Bach and in an unaccompanied suite by Johann Sebastian Bach.

The rest of the program will include Adagio and Fugue by Mozart, and Bloch's Concerto Grosso, in which the piano obligato part will be played by Edna-Marie Hawkin. Composed in 1924, this work was written to prove that it is not necessary to shatter all established traditions in order to be modern, but to use an old form and yet breathe into it the spirit of the 20th century.

Micro-Wave Relays Subject Of Lecture

Dr. Hugh Hamilton will speak to the McGill Student's Physics Society on microwave relaying on Wednesday in Room 102 of the Physics Building.

Radio relaying with micro-waves is one of the most important fields in electronics today, and has caused a parallel development in research on the structure of the atmosphere.

Accentuates Approach

Sets Suit Play Action

In deciding to set the McGill University English Department's Spring production of Much Ado About Nothing in the early Italian Renaissance, Prof. Stephen Porter, producer, and Althea Douglas, costumer have chosen a period that they feel suits the action of the play itself rather than the era in which the play was actually produced. Both felt that this choice will accentuate their own approach to the play which is one of light comedy, artificiality and prettiness.

In Elizabethan England Italian Renaissance manners and courtship were the rage, and Italian ideas were imitated by all the "advanced" young people. Shakespeare pillories some of the behaviour and affectations of the brightest most sophisticated and most inane young blades of the day—the sentimentalists; their superficial veneer of classical education, another harking to the Italian; the extremes of court fashion and the excesses of courtly behaviour.

Early Italian Renaissance art has an atmosphere of fantasy and artificiality which Prof. Porter feels suit the mood of Much Ado,

LUCY GETS SUPPORT NFCUS TELEGRAM ENCOURAGES STUDENT

A telegram has been sent by the NFCUS executive on behalf of Canadian University Students to the United States National Students' Association in support of Miss Autherine Lucy, suspended from the University of Alabama on February 6.

Miss Lucy was suspended following riots at the University by students protesting the admission of negro students. The telegram reads,

"On the basis of human rights NFCUS expresses full support of the National Students' Association in its efforts to win reinstatements for Miss Autherine Lucy at the University of Alabama. Please convey to Miss Lucy all sentiments of concern on behalf of the students of Canada."

Senior Debating Final At Union

The final round in the ASUS Senior Debating Tournament will be held today at 1 pm in the Walter M. Stewart Room of the Union.

The winners of this debate will be awarded the Arts and Science Senior Debating Trophy. This is only the second year of this competition. Last year Alison Knox and Harvey Yarosky were the winners of this tournament.

The topic of the debate is "Resolved that this house approves Nehru's stand on Communism". Brahm Campbell and Dave Freedman will take the affirmative, while the negative will be upheld by Bob Gualtieri and Wilson Southam.

The debate will be judged by three veteran McGill debaters. They are Marv Gameroff, Joe Nuss and Harold Ashenmil.

PROTEST MEETING IN BALLROOM TAKES PLACE TOMORROW

An important meeting of the Students' Society will be held today at 1 pm in the Union Ballroom for the purpose of presenting to the student body a petition concerning Miss Autherine Lucy.

The petition, which was received by Avrum Cohen, President of the Students Society, reads as follows:

Whereas Students of McGill University have been watching closely Miss Autherine Lucy's fight for her rights at the University of Alabama;

Whereas the students feel that Miss Lucy's actions have been that of a brave and courageous woman; therefore,

Be it resolved that the Students' Executive Council of McGill be authorized by the Students' Society to write and encourage Miss Lucy in her stand, and assure her that if she is forced to leave her struggle, that a scholarship from student funds will be provided for her if she wishes to study at McGill, and;

Be it further resolved that if Miss Lucy does not accept the Students' Society offer, that a scholarship be provided to some other victim of racial prejudice from the southern United States.

OPEN HOUSE '56 IS McGILL PR OUTLET

McGill "Open House" '56 will be held this year on October 5 and 6, and not on November 2 and 3 as previously announced. Jim Hugesson, chairman of the Open House committee, told the Daily that dates have been changed so that the giant undertaking will coincide with the University's drive for six million dollars.

One of the primary purposes of the Open House is to supply a public relations outlet for the University. By opening the various buildings and faculty departments to public inspection, it is felt that the general public and the student body will become more aware of the work being carried out within the University grounds.

Tie In Freshmen Reception
Jim Domville, assistant chairman of the committee, said that all efforts will be made to tie in the Freshman reception with the Open House activities. New students will be invited to aid in preparing the varied demonstrations and guided tours.

Open House is the biggest student undertaking of the year. Between five hundred and one thousand students are responsible for putting the show on the road. Also a feature of Open House is the great deal of co-operation between faculty and students which is not present in most extracurricular activities.

Despite the fact that the school term only begins in the first week of October, the members of the committee will start working full-time in the middle of September.

MOC Hackers Race Set At Shawbridge

The McGill Outing Club will hold their annual Hacker's Ski meet Sunday, at Shawbridge's Sugar Bush mountain. The meet caters to skiers of all calibre, from novice to expert.

Contestants should meet at the Outing Club shack, at 10 am, with equipment. Events include downhill, slalom and crosscountry. Prizes (of sorts) will be given to the winners, in both men's and ladies' divisions.

HONOR SOCIETY PARTY

Members of the Scarlet Key and Red Wing Societies will hold a party Wednesday in the Union Lounge Room, at 8 pm, it was announced this week.

Physics Building To be Renovated

In a move to utilize some of the unused space in the Macdonald Physics Building, a part of the ground floor is being remodelled into two new labs. One of these, the Properties of Matter lab under Dr. Gunn, is being moved from the second floor. It is expected that the other lab will be used for Geophysics under Professor Watson. The labs will be ready next season.

Editorial

COMMENDABLE SCHEME

The newly institution Loan Fund which Mr. Avrum Cohen proposed, and the Council passed unanimously at the last meeting will fill a gap that has been sorely conspicuous. Though the University does sponsor a loan program, it cannot fill the needs of the many students who apply for its benefits. Any move which the Council makes towards easing the situation can only be commended.

Fifteen hundred dollars have been contributed toward the Fund, and it is implied that the Council will continue to build it up whenever the Students' Society's economic situation makes it feasible. The maximum any student may draw out of the Fund is three hundred dollars per annum.

It had been suggested that no interest charge whatsoever be levied against the borrowing of money. Though this scheme has many good qualities to recommend it, the Council, wisely so, considered it impractical. In the first place it would remove some incentive on the part of a graduate to repay the money at the earliest time possible, thus preventing some other student from receiving similar benefit. Secondly, the interest would serve to cancel some bad debts that the Fund is liable to incur.

A compromise was proposed and accepted. The student will begin paying interest on money starting two years after it was borrowed.

The Fund will be administered through the regular University Committee. It will be granted to students in good academic standing, regardless of race, color, or creed. The applicant's extra-curricular activity will be a consideration.

COMMITTEES AND AWARDS

Nobody envies the Awards Committee. If they give away too few awards they are showing favouritism. If they give too many they are cheapening the awards. Short of universal awards some will feel left out. Short of Godly omniscience some will get more than they deserve and others will deserve more than they get. In these circumstances, comment on the awards question should confine itself to helpful suggestions.

On the whole, last year's system of gold awards, honourable mentions, and a large number of invitations to the Banquet worked out very well, although the invitations might be less pompously worded. Perhaps it would make things easier if a system of Committee Awards was instituted. Very often a committee is recognized to have done an outstanding job which cannot be attributed solely or primarily to its titular head — the traditional recipient. The Awards Committee might be authorized to pick out three or four of the best committees on campus to receive Committee Awards. All the members would be listed as a group and invited to the Banquet as such. In this way teamwork as well as individual contributions would be recognized. The only difficulty is whether the Awards Committee could award itself a Committee Award.

An Alternative

Sir:

The recent events at the University of Alabama have caused a great deal of consternation and indignation in all quarters. The result has been that a number of hasty and perhaps unwise statement have been made. It would be well for us to remember that advice freely given is rarely appreciated and even more rarely acted upon. Condemnation is always resented and does nothing to improve the situation. Miss Lucy's problem is only a reflection of a far greater problem that plagues the whole of the Southern United States.

That problem will not be solved by the enforcement of laws, or by free advice, or by condemnation from areas where the problem does not assume the same proportions. It will take a long time to work out, and the only people who can solve it are the southerners themselves. However the problem does concern us and I feel that we should do something, but let us do something constructive towards a solution, rather than something that will soothe our consciences and get us some favourable publicity.

Here at McGill we have seen that people of different races, creeds and colours can live, work, and play together and it is here that I feel we can make a contribution. I should like to suggest that we offer not one but two scholarships. These would be open only to students normally resident in one of the former Confederate States of America and would be awarded for a single year. The only other stipulation would be that one of the recipients would be white, and the other a negro, and that they be expected to room together for the year.

Perhaps in this way we may show a few that a better understanding of each other's problems may lead to better relations and make cases like Miss Lucy's much rarer.

David C. Knowles.

Unpopular Move

Sir:

With reference to the statement made in the Daily concerning the granting of a scholarship to Miss Lucy or to some other southern negro student, I would like to say I am in favour of the granting of free tuition to Miss Lucy only, as she is the sole person in the middle of this great controversy. Any other person should be allowed to enter McGill on the basis of themselves only, and not because they happen to be a negro living in the southern United States. If this is done, we will be bending over backwards to give them what is in reality a more than equal chance, which is decidedly not what they are fighting so vigorously for. Furthermore, this move would be extremely unpopular and would raise an even greater antagonism against the negro person in the Southern States.

Aaron Brotman.

In Reply

Sir:

The University of Alabama controversy has brought out some very interesting points. Some of the most outstanding are how Canadians think and don't think, their fear of criticizing Americans, and their racial prejudice which they will express whenever they get the opportunity. Luckily, the opportunities are very few because of the anti-black immigration laws, so Canadians can sit back and say that they believe in racial equality.

Letters to the Editor

The petition which was circulated on Tuesday, February 14, called for condemnation of the student body of the University of Alabama failed because there were not even 300 students of McGill's thousands who disagreed with them. There were many rationalisations which followed but these just brought out the true feeling of the student body here.

Mr. Hamish R. Hutchison suggested that Miss Lucy be given a scholarship to study at McGill, but Mr. Hutchison, in what way do you expect that to help the southern negroes who are prevented from attending universities? I think your mistake come about when you treated Miss Lucy's case as an isolated one, but no, it is representative of many. Again, Mr. Hutchison if you think that "example on the spot" is the only way to aid racial equality, why did you suggest that Miss Lucy come here? Wouldn't that defeat what the Negroes are trying to achieve.

In your statement "how many of you petition signers have been to Alabama?", are you implying that conditions in Alabama warrant racial segregation? You also said that you "worked with negroes in East Africa, and as a civilian in the United States Air Force, and am well convinced they are the equal in human worth of any white group." Do you mean human worth as the British used it in the days of slavery — that one negro was worth four whites.

Finally, Mr. Hutchison, the students of McGill University are supposed to be the cream of Canadians, the people who have shed their prejudices. I think that they should be in a position to praise or condemn Canadians, and the student body of the University of Alabama.

And you, Mr. Lockhead, B. Sc.

2, don't seem to be as concerned over the University of Alabama affair as you would have us believe. Should not Canadians who believe in racial equality show a "holier-than-thou" attitude to those who are against it. How do you suggest that "we make our voice heard", by sending copies of the Daily to the University of Alabama.

I would like to answer your question, "what good could it do to write a letter condemning fellow students for their actions?". Mr. Lockhead, it would show those students that we do not agree with their actions. It would also cause formation of ill feelings between McGill and the University of Alabama which is good in itself. You implied that there were good feelings between McGill and the University of Alabama, therefore I suggest that as a friend we point out to them that we do not agree with their actions.

Oswald Downes.

One World

Sir:

Some of the letters published in the Daily on the issue of racial segregation in U.S.A. put forward the view that criticism of events happening in another country implies an attitude of arrogant self-righteousness and should therefore be avoided. One wonders why the leaders of the Western block of nations assume an attitude of moral superiority whenever they attack the Soviet Union and China, and frequently take refuge behind a cloak of pious talk about God and Religion as though God has any preference for the NATO to the Cominform!

In these times of ours, the world has become one and we cannot ignore or be indifferent to events happening in any part of the world. There is such a thing as world moral opinion which can exert considerable influence in cases like the racial segregation in U.S.A. and the racial policy of white South Africa. It is certainly very heartening to see so many Canadians show clearly where their moral sympathies lie.

Championship Swim Meet On Athletics Night

Barry Thompson, McGill's aquatic director, has already led his water polo team to the Intercollegiate championship and on Athletics Night this Saturday, February 25, he will attempt to double up as he sends his swimming charges out to wrest the title from the University of Toronto Blues.

Oddly enough, it isn't the defending champion Blues that coach Thompson fears, but rather the third team in the meet; the University of Western Ontario Mustangs. Toronto has lost most of their last year team through graduation and have been easily beaten by Western in an exhibition meet this season.

The Intercollegiate swim meet has ten standard events. There are two relays, the 400 yard free style and the 800 yard medley, and one diving event. The remaining seven events are individual efforts. They consist of, the 50, 100, 220, and 440 free style races, the 200 yard backstroke and breaststroke races and the 200 yard individual medley.

Thompson hasn't yet decided his final team, but has a good idea of just who most of them will be. Jerry Anderson and Dick Menard will represent McGill in the diving competition.

Ed Adelson and Chris Webber will go for McGill in the 200 yard breaststroke while Pete Capelovitch and Norm Benoit will probably swim the 200 yard backstroke event. Robbie Cook will swim the two distance races, the 220 and 440 free style events, with Peter Cookson joining him in the former and Fred Weinstein in the latter. Weinstein will also swim with Lloyd Kishino in the individual medley.

Charlie Evelyn will go for McGill in the 50 and 100 yard free style races; the other two have not been decided as yet. The medley relay will most likely be made up of Kishino, Anderson and Adelson or Webber. The 400 relay will be chosen from Cook, Anderson, Evelyn, Cookson, Kishino and Maroje Miloslavice.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

by Lorraine Brender

The final game of the Women's Open Basketball League on Thursday night saw the YWCA win over McGill in a very closely contested match which ended 37-36. This was our coeds' only loss of the season and consequently they have retained the City Championship for another year.

In the first half of the game, play was very sloppy, with ball handling on the part of McGill poor and inaccurate. Both teams struggled back and forth to maintain possession of the ball, and the score ended at 23 all. With five seconds to play in the game the score was tied when Jean Machan of the Y was fouled. She sank the free shot to win the game for her team. The loss might be attributed to McGill's lack of their usual fourth quarter drive that they have displayed in previous inter-city games.

Virginia Carter netted 18 points and played a very good game along with her line-mates, Maris Oamer and Betty Alexander.

Once again Dorothy Underhill was outstanding on defence. She came through time and again with some excellent pass interceptions, upsetting many YMCA attacks. Dorothy, a second year Phys. Ed. student will be playing Intercollegiate Basketball again this year.

This week-end the Intercollegiate team will journey to Kingston where they will compete in a tournament with five other Universities. Representing McGill will be: Betty Alexander, Virginia Carter, Judy Earle, Fran Laurin, Dorothy May, and Maris Oamer on offence; Judy Bowman, Dody Davidson, Joan Sanderson, Shannon Stone, Helen Tucker, and Dorothy Underhill on defence.

Intramural Titles To Tridents, Med 2

Tridents of the Faculty of Engineering won the best of three Intramural Volleyball Championship 2 games to 1. Engineering won the first game 15-9 but were defeated by a determined Medicine squad 15-6 in the second game. In the third and final game Medicine were leading 10-5 but Engineering came surging back and won the game 15-10.

In the Intramural Basketball Finals, Medicine 3 defeated Medicine 2, 24-22 in one of the most exciting games witnessed in Intramural competition. The game was a see-saw affair all the way; Medicine 2 scored the winning basket with less than 40 seconds remaining to give them the title.

McCann, Baltzan Climb in Scoring

Results of last week's Intercollegiate hockey games show that McGill's flashy centre Brian McCann has narrowed the gap between himself and Ken Linsemen of Toronto to two points in the race for the individual scoring championship.

McCann, who trailed Linsemen by 12 points two weeks ago, picked up a pair of goals and an assist in the Redmen's 7-3 win over the University of Montreal to increase his total to 20 points. He is the first McGillian to hit that total in four years.

Linsemen scored once to run his goals total to 13, tops in the league, and also assisted once as the Blues downed Laval 6-3 in the Queen City. He now has 22 points.

Right winger Dick Baltzan moved into undisputed possession of third spot as he picked up four assists. His 15 assists lead the league in that department. Toronto's Don Cossar also had a four point game in the Varsity win over Laval as he tallied twice and helped out on two other goals.

The MDHWA's unofficial statistics show that Leo Konyk and Pete Constable each have 14 points. The Konyk-Baltzan-McCann line and Varsity's top attacking unit of Linsemen, Cossar and Akitt are tied in total points for the line, each trio having 52 scoring points. The Toronto line has outscored the McGill line 24 goals to 22, but McGill have played one game less than Varsity.

100 Per Cent Banking Success

The latest in ideas comes from Pittsburgh where two skunks have been hired to promote bank services. At last report, the skunks are not claiming all the credit, but nearly 30,000 people had streamed through the bank's exhibit during a three-day run. Fearful of exposure, the bank is playing possum about its fumigation methods. Now the ambitious skunks are reported to be in training for permanent employment with the bank. A rival claims the whole thing smells to high heaven, but the bank says it's been the most successful piece of sales promotion they've ever done.

The Royal Bank is not yet on the market for skunks, hoping our customers will love us for ourselves alone. However, if there's a change in policy, we'll let you know. Meantime, if you'd care to throw your business our way, you'll find our services and facilities most satisfactory. Leithman Captures Snooker Crown Second Time

Sid Leithman successfully defended his McGill snooker championship yesterday by defeating Jim Dawe in three straight games in a best of five series.

It was the second consecutive year that Leithman, a third year Arts student has won the title. Dawe who is a first year Engineer was competing for the first time.

The first game saw Leithman come from behind a 25 point deficit to nip Dawe on the black ball. In the second game it was Dawe's turn to come from behind, as he overcame a 31 point lead to tie his opponent with a series of snookers, climaxed by sinking the black ball. By agreement of the players, this game was replayed completely with Leithman winning by a handy 23 point margin.

The third and final game saw Leithman leading all the way. Dawe conceded after the champion had amassed 55 points.

A large crowd jammed the billiard hall in the Union to witness the match which saw both players a little nervous with the tension that filled the air. The trophy will be presented to Leithman by Union vice-president Arthur Aber at noon today in the billiard room.

BEAVERBROOK NAMED HONORARY CUP HEAD

The Right Honorable Lord Beaverbrook, newspaper magnate and philanthropist, has been elected honorary president of Canadian University Press service, it was announced recently.

Lord Beaverbrook expressed his "pleasure" at being elected to the position, in a letter to The Brunswickian, student newspaper at the

Lord Beaverbrook

University of New Brunswick.

Lord Beaverbrook is well known for his contributions to education, and to UNB in particular. He has presented the Maritime college with a men's residence (1930), gymnasium (1940), a law school with complete library (1954), the Bonar-Bennett Library with the papers of Bonar Law, Viscount Bennett and Lloyd George (1952), and the Lady Beaverbrook Rink (1955). These have been valued at over $2.5 million.

In 1920 Lord Beaverbrook began to award scholarships to deserving high school students who wished to attend university. Five scholarships at $325 per year for four years have grown to seven tenable for four or five years and are valued at $600.

In 1946 he inaugurated the Beaverbrook Overseas Scholarships, and the first winners were announced a year later. Approximately 10 scholarships are awarded each year to graduates of New Brunswick universities to

U of M's Lortie Speaks In Union Today At Five

Dr. Leon Lortie, Professor of Inorganic Chemistry at the University of Montreal and Head of the Extension Department there, will speak on "The Catholic Approach to Education and Culture in Quebec" on Tuesday, February 21, at five pm in the Walter M. Since the war Lord Beaverbrook has provided five scholarships for high school students to attend Mt. Allison University, and five overseas scholarships have been instituted for New Brunswick teachers to continue their professional training at the University of London.

Program Planned For Promising Writers

An intensive campaign to find scripts by recognized or promising new playwrights will be undertaken by TV to Broadway Productions, a new producing firm established by Oscar S. Lerman.

It is the intention of TV to Broadway Productions to test new scripts on television, and, if successful, then produce them on Broadway. In a sense you could liken this to the role the summer stock tryouts play in the legitimate theatre. "It has become increasingly clear this past season that both Broadway and Hollywood are looking eagerly to television as a showcase for potential properties," said Lerman.

Many television networks and advertising agencies responsible for some programs will not accept a script unless submitted by an agent. The new firm will accept scripts directly. Applications may be secured by writing to TV to Broadway, Suite 609, 147 W. 42 St, New York, and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

A new video show, "TV To Broadway" is planned to showcase these scripts.
